

reasons for exclusion

careforce lifekeys will exclude applicants on the following grounds:

- A person's medication makes it impossible for them to concentrate;
- A person is experiencing a distorted sense of reality;
- A person is currently under medical treatment and their practitioner does not agree with their involvement;
- A person has a psychiatric condition that is not stabilised, eg, schizophrenia;
- A person has a level of grief that renders them unable to cope with group work, thereby needing one to one counselling prior to attending a course;
- A person cannot be physically self-controlled in a group setting;
- A person knows they cannot attend all sessions (except emergencies).

March 2009